School Chorus And Organ Music Are Presented

Before a near-capacity crowd in the Cathedral auditorium last night, Rev. Daniel C. Schnebly, pastor of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church in the Seventh ward, delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the 335 members of the June division of Senior high school's class of 1938.

Crowd Fills Huge Hall
The impressive service which drew scores from many of the churches of the city which had closed especially for it, opened the school's formal commencement week activities which close with graduation exercises Friday evening, June 10.

Huge Crowd
Probably few baccalaureate services have attracted such a large audience. The sections of the main floor open to the public were completely occupied before 7:30, 30 minutes before the service opened, and when the program closed the huge hall—including the first and second balconies—was almost filled.

The sermon the huge audience heard was an inspiring one on "The Perils of Security."

Rev. Yeates On Program
Rev. Chester T. Yeates, pastor of the Third U. P. church, who presided over the service, Rev. Yeates gave the invocation and benediction, read scripture and offered prayer.

On the broad stage was massed the Senior high school chorus which sang three times during the service under the direction of Robert A. Duff, its director.

Organ Plays At Opening
Before the service opened Mrs. Jessie Nelson Reed, one of the city's prominent organists, offered a 15-minute recital on the mighty Cathedral organ.

Open At 8 O'clock
Promptly at 8 o'clock the service opened.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New saw two dogs being hit by automobiles on the Perry highway Sunday night. This might serve as a warning to all who own dogs, especially those who live by a highway, to keep their dogs tied, not only in accordance with the dog law, but to safeguard their dog's life as well.

Yesterday's hailstorm was one of the longest duration we can remember for a long time, and as close as we are to Haramburg, it just sprinkled rain there. The sun came out strong after the hailstorm and the gnats were soon "dancing" in the air. Where were they during the storm?

Much has been written and said about the reckless automobile driver. There are also reckless bicycle riders that are "bobbing and weaving" among the automobiles along the highway.

Recreational Council To Open Playgrounds

New Castle will have at least 11 centrally-located playgrounds operating this summer under the close direction of trained supervisors as a result of an energetic recreational program developed by the city's new Educational Recreational Council.

The play spots—North, East, West and South—are to officially open Friday, June 10, the day school closes. Mrs. Harry L. Sturdevant, president of the council, announced today.

With a group of hard-working assistants, Mrs. Sturdevant and the council has engineered a summer-long recreational program which will be supervised directly by instructors provided by the Works Progress Administration. They are authorized instructors and will manage the playgrounds. The National Youth Administration, too, is co-operating.

Pet Parade On Program
At all the playgrounds interest is expected to center on the pet parade and show which the Educational Recreational Council will sponsor on the afternoon of Thursday, June 23. First announcement of it was made today. The parade

Iowa New Deal Battleground Today

SENATOR GUY M. GILLETTE
REPRESENTATIVE OTHA D. WEARIN

Traditionally a Republican state, Iowa becomes the battleground of the New Deal today where a primary election is being held. Most interest revolves around the Democratic fight for the nomination for United States senate. Senator Guy M. Gillette, the incumbent, is opposed by Representative Otha D. Wearin. Senator Gillette supported President Roosevelt in most of his legislation but voted against the Court Packing bill, thus earning for himself the animosity of the White House. Wearin, who has been 100 per cent for Roosevelt's policies has the blessing of Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator and James Roosevelt, son of the president. The campaign has been a bitter one.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 6.—The bitter Iowa Democratic primary was pitched squarely on the year-old supreme court reform issue today as voters went to the polls to pick senatorial nominees in both parties.

Representative Otha D. Wearin (D) seeking senate nomination with the backing of WPA Administrator Harry Hopkins, charged Senator Guy M. Gillette (D) has never reconciled his vote against the court bill with his previous views.

Rides With Roosevelt
Closing his campaign with an early morning broadcast today, Wearin declared:
"This is a test of Roosevelt's strength in the corn belt. We will go forward with Roosevelt or backward with his enemies."
Senator Gillette, seeking re-nomination, charged that opposition to him, directed by "persons outside the state," was organized solely because of his vote against the court enlargement bill. He supported other important New Deal measures. He bitterly assailed Hopkins and others "who have engaged in a program of accusation, misrepresentation, distortion and political trickery in an attempt to secure repudiation of me."

Twenty Killed By Insurgent Bombs

(International News Service)
VALENCIA, June 6.—Twenty persons, including three members of the crew of an unidentified British cargo vessel, were killed in an insurgent air raid on Alicante today. Seventeen of the deaths were caused when bombs were dropped in the center of the city. The British steamer was reported hit several times.

The last insurgent air raid on Alicante took a heavy toll of civilian life and resulted in a sharp protest by Great Britain.

Tony De Rosa Dies As Lightning Hits Small Shelter Shed

Billy And Michael, Brothers Of Dead Boy, In Hospital
When Bolt Stuns Them; Four Other Youngsters Are Slightly Stunned As Freak Lightning Envelops Small Shed On DeRosa Yard At Cascade And Dewey Avenue
Sunday Afternoon; Hail Storm Damages Small Fruits And Vegetables.

STORM MISSES SOME SECTIONS; HEAVY DAMAGE IN OTHER PARTS

One boy was killed, two were badly injured, and four others of a group who had sought shelter from the thunder storm early Sunday afternoon in an old wash house in the rear of the home of Angelo DeRosa, at the corner of Cascade street and Dewey avenue, were stunned by a freak bolt of lightning. Tony DeRosa, aged 16, of 1131 Dewey avenue, son of Angelo, was killed, and Billy DeRosa, aged 8, and Mike, aged 5, brothers of Tony, are in the New Castle and Jameson Memorial hospitals, respectively.

The bolt struck shortly after 12:30 o'clock, seeming to envelop the shed with its flash. It knocked splinters from the door frame, and a loose board from the ceiling of the structure, which struck Tommy Micco, one of the group in the face, causing a severe bruise.

Playing Near Home
Those in the group, Tony, Harry, Billy and Mike DeRosa, brothers, Tommy Micco, Jimmy Genoni, and Tony Cimino, all residing in the same neighborhood, had been playing near the DeRosa home, and when it started to rain, they sought shelter in the small building.

Tony DeRosa, the oldest, was standing in the doorway, while the others were grouped about inside talking. Jimmy Genoni, one of the boys in the crowd stated, "When the bolt struck, all were knocked to the floor by the impact and were stunned. As soon as the first boys in the crowd recovered from the shock, help was summoned and Tony and Billy DeRosa, who were unconscious, were removed to the New Castle hospital, where it was found that Tony was dead. Billy and Mike are recovering today and apparently have suffered no ill effects from their unusual experience. It was stated at the hospitals.

Flash Envelops Building
The spot where the bolt struck the building could not be determined. (Continued on Page Two)

Clerks-Carriers Pick New Castle For Fall Meet

Select This City At Meeting
In Sharon On Saturday Afternoon
SENATOR DAVIS
ADDRESSES GROUP

New Castle will be host to the regular fall conference of the Northwestern Pennsylvania section of the National Association of Post Office Clerks and the National Federation of Letter Carriers.

Meeting in Sharon Saturday, the section had selected this city for their next joint program. New Castle was well represented Saturday. Principal speakers at the dinner in Sharon were United States Senator James J. Davis, Leo E. George, Washington, D. C., national president of the clerks; Herman Goldstein, national vice president of the clerks, and Frank Savion, Pittsburgh, State president, Judge George H. Rowley of the Mercer county court was dinner toastmaster.

At the final session of the group, Samuel Polm, Oil City, was elected president of the Northwestern Pennsylvania Clerks' Association. Clair McGhee of Farrell was elected vice president; Charles Fitch of Greenville, secretary, and John Quigley of Meadville, treasurer.

Mrs. Harry M. Cooper of Sharon, was named president of the Clerks' Auxiliary, other officers are: vice president, Mrs. Claire McGhee of Farrell, and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Kelly of Oil City.

The Clerks' Auxiliary held its first meeting and decided to delay formal organization until the New Castle convention.

Pittsburgh Banker Is Called By Death

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 6.—Funeral services were being prepared today for Howard Irish, president of the Commonwealth Trust Company who died here at the age of 66.

Irish became president of the banking firm in June, 1911, succeeding George D. Edwards. Prior to that he had been vice president of the company.

He was the son of the late O. H. and Mary Irish. His father was chief of the United States Bureau of Printing and Engraving under Presidents Hayes and Garfield. For many years he was treasurer and director of the Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor; trustee of the University of Pittsburgh, and treasurer of the Physicians Land Company. He was also a director of the Commonwealth Real Estate Company.

Said he I'd like to paint your house, it needs it badly I can see, suppose I put my ladder up and give it two coats, maybe three. And I agreed and now he's there with ladders sprouting everywhere, and buckets tossed about the yard, his progress up to date is fair. But for a week or maybe two, or longer, he will be around, and there's no use complaining much, for painters laugh it off I've found. But when he's through the house should look a little better once again, the weather's threatening at noon us seventy-six and looks like rain.

Slovaks Insist Upon Autonomy

Ask Fulfillment Of 1918 Pledges In Pittsburgh

Will Continue As Allies Of Czechs If Pittsburgh Agreement Is Kept

DISAPPROVE ENTENTE WITH SOVIET UNION

(International News Service)
PRAGUE, June 6.—An agreement signed in Pittsburgh, Pa., while Czechoslovakia was yet unborn today became the rallying emblem in the swiftly progressing autonomy movement for 2,000,000 Slovaks.

Seventy thousand Slovak autonomists yesterday marched through the streets of Bratislava and heard their leader, Father Andrej Hlinka, firmly proclaim:

"We will never rest until the Pittsburgh treaty is fulfilled."

Signed in 1918

The Pittsburgh treaty, signed June 30, 1918, was an agreement between Czechs and Slovaks in the United States guaranteeing "cultural self-government" to the Slovaks in the state then being created.

"We want out-and-out autonomy," Father Hlinka said. "If we get satisfaction, we shall remain loyal partners of the Czechs. Otherwise we shall have to seek other means."

"The Slovaks are ready to grant minority rights to all groups. The Jews will receive recognition of their rights in proportion to their numbers."

"We are enemies of communism and do not approve of the Czech entente with the Soviet Union, but we do not wish the entente to be given up, because we think the U. S. S. R. will shortly collapse, anyway."

While the Slovaks marched in Bratislava, 120,000 Social Democrats paraded in Prague in commemoration of the 20th anniversary of the movement's founding. President Eduard Benes received a tremendous ovation.

One Sudeten German was injured in the day's incident, when police broke up a group of Sudeten Germans trying to form a banned procession at Mladkoff.

and it is believed that it was a flash from a bolt which struck nearby. According to an East Side man, who was watching the storm, a bolt flashed out of the sky in the direction of the Croton district which seemed to split up, part of it shooting off at an angle. It is possible that it was this bolt which caused the damage.

All the other boys who were in the shed apparently have recovered from the effects of the shock they received and are little the worse for their experience today.

The storm was an unusual one. Some sections of the city received a deluge of hail, while in other sections it was scarcely noticeable. The hail was so heavy in spots that it could be shoveled from the ground, and the stones were fairly large ones. A great amount of damage was done to gardens, fruits and flowers by the hail.

Tony DeRosa was born June 16, 1922, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo DeRosa, at Bessemer, Pa. He would have been sixteen years of age next week. The father is a World War veteran, it is said.

In addition to the parents, five brothers, James, William, Mike, Harry and David, and two sisters, Mary and Elsie, survive.

Arrangements for the funeral are incomplete and will be announced later.

IOWA DEMOCRATS IN GRIM BATTLE FOR NOMINATION

declared Roosevelt has maintained a position of "proper and strict neutrality in this matter."

Alignment of the voting, expected to reach a two-party total of 400,000 or more, was in many respects similar to that in the recent Pennsylvania primary.

The state Democratic administration, with the exception of the state treasurer was lined up solidly for Gillette. Senator Clyde Herring (D) and the state committee were backing him.

A. F. O. L. Support

To this, the senator yesterday added support of the American Federation of Labor. President William Green sent a telegram declaring that Gillette's record is "100 per cent favorable to labor" and that to fail to support him would be "the height of ingratitude."

Besides Hopkins, Weir had the support of President Homer Martin of the C. I. O.'s United Automobile Workers, active support of United States District Attorney E. G. Dunn, State Treasurer Leo Wegman, and Congressman E. C. Elcher, and inferential support of James Roosevelt, son of the president.

The younger Roosevelt sent a telegram to Dunn in which he referred to Weir as "my friend." A picture of James Roosevelt and Weir together was widely distributed.

The Democratic schism, and charges of a New Deal attempt to "punish" Gillette for his court stand, overshadowed the Republican primary today, but it appeared probable Republicans would get the lion's share of the vote.

Throughout the New Deal, the major portion of Iowa primary votes have continued Republican, the totals being 260,000 and 141,000 in 1936. This has not prevented Democrats from winning elections which followed, although city and county officers have remained predominantly Republican.

White-haired former Senator Lester J. Dickinson and Representative Lloyd Thurston are seeking the G. O. P. senatorial nomination. Three other Democrats are in the race with Weir and Gillette, leaving a possibility that neither will get the required 35 per cent of the vote.

Whitney's downfall served one good purpose. You can now get a job in Washington without being a Harvard graduate.

Deaths of the Day

Mrs. Ellen Jane Forney

Mrs. Ellen Jane Forney, aged 87 years, passed away Sunday at 5:30 p. m. at her home, 410 West Cherry street, after a ten weeks' illness.

Mrs. Forney was born in Slippery Rock township February 14, 1851, the daughter of John and Sarah Brandon Alexander, and she was the last surviving member of her family.

She leaves two sons, Charles C. Forney, at home, and Mont W. Forney, of 713 Carlisle street; four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. Mrs. Forney was preceded in death by her husband, O. A. Forney; one son, Lee H. Forney, and a daughter, Mrs. Bert Myers. She had been married over 60 years, 49 of which were passed in Mahoningtown. As long as her health permitted she was a faithful member of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, the Sunday school and the Opportunity Circle. She was a woman blessed with a beautiful Christian character.

Services are to be held from the Mahoning funeral home at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, with her pastor, Rev. D. C. Schuebel, officiating. Interment will be made in Grace-land cemetery.

The family will receive friends tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock, and on Tuesday from 2 to 4 in the afternoon and 7 to 9 in the evening.

Mrs. Margaret Miller Brown

In the passing of Mrs. Margaret L. Miller Brown, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. H. Young, 315 E. Wallace avenue, Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, death claimed one of this city's oldest and best known residents, for had she lived until September 28, she would have reached the advanced age of 92 years.

Born in Lawrence county, practically her entire life was spent here, with the exceptions of a few years, a resident of Youngstown, O., and Missouri. She was the youngest of seven children born to Jane Vaughn and James Steel Miller, both families being pioneer residents of New Castle and Lawrence counties. Her mother came to this country from Ireland in 1810, and settled near New Castle. Her father's parents came here at an even earlier date from Abaco, Lorain. After a short residence at York, Pa., they came to New Castle and took up their residence at what is known as Parktown, on the Youngstown road, where the family was reared.

After the marriage of her parents they moved to Warren, O., for a short time but came back to Eton Valley where they purchased a farm and resided there until Mr. Miller's death which occurred when Mrs. Brown was but six years of age. The death of her mother followed a few years later when the family was separated.

Mrs. Brown, was the widow of Lafayette Brown, a Civil War veteran, who was killed in the line of duty as a conductor on the B. & O. Railroad at New Castle Junction a number of years ago. The family resided on Smithfield street for many years, but for the past twenty years Mrs. Brown has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Young, Wallace avenue. She was united in marriage to Mr. Brown, December 24, 1867. To this union five children were born, all of whom survive a kind and loving mother. They are Mrs. Charles E. Fullerton, Coverts Station; Maude Smiley, Franklin; May B. Young, Chas. S. Brown and C. Ed Brown of this city. Twelve grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren and numerous other relatives also survive.

Mrs. Brown's death was the result of infirmities, due to her advanced years. She has been a semi-invalid for the past fifteen years, having fractured her hip in a fall, and since that accident has been confined to her home. She was a woman endowed with a sunny disposition and was beloved by all who knew her. In spite of the injury which deprived her of the use of her leg, she was most cheerful and was never heard to utter a word of complaint regarding her lot. Early in life Mrs. Brown became afflicted with the church and at the time of her death, was a member of the First M. E. church of this city, being one of its oldest members. She was always active in church circles and was for many years president of the Ladies Aid Society of that congregation. Funeral services will be held from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles H. Young, 315 Wallace avenue, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with Rev. W. V. McLean in charge. Interment will take place in Greenwood cemetery.

Funeral of Mrs. Mathews.
Funeral rites for Mrs. Annie Barnes Mathews, widow of Thomas Mathews, were conducted from the family residence on the Youngstown road Saturday afternoon with Rev. G. S. Bennett, D. D., pastor of the First Christian church, in charge.

The pallbearers were Ivor Richards, Joseph O'Neil, Alex. Miller, Ross Abbott, Robert Wallace and Roy Shaffer.

Interment was made in Grace-land cemetery.

Mrs. Agatha Korsek.
Mrs. Agatha Korsek, aged 61 years, died at her home, 805 DuShane St., Saturday evening, at 20 minutes after 7 o'clock.

The deceased was born May 13, 1877, in Poland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Gonski. She came to America 38 years ago and for the past 30 years had made her home in New Castle. She was a member of SS. Philip and James church.

Five sons, Frank John, Theodore, Henry and Raymond, five daughters, Mrs. Agnes Smokiewski, Mrs. Anna Parillo and Clara, in New Castle; Mrs. Genevieve Donahue and Mrs. Frances Charlan, of Detroit; Mrs. Mary Wejciechowski, in Denora, Pa., survive.

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday morning at 9:30 from the residence, and at 10 o'clock from SS. Philip and James church, with Rev. V. V. Stanekowski officiating. Interment will be made in the parish cemetery.

Antkowski Services.
Funeral services for Stanley Antkowski, were conducted from the home of his step-son, Michael Lk-war, 315 East Reynolds street, on Saturday at 10 a. m.

Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery, with Stanley Brown, Frank Cichon, Joseph O'Neil, Stanley Seiling, Casimir Boron and Stanley Pich serving as pallbearers.

Mrs. Mary Salerno.
Mrs. Mary Salerno, aged 51 years, widow of Giuseppe Salerno, died at her home on the Hillville-Lowellville road, as the result of a stroke Saturday at 10:40 p. m.

She was born in Italy and came to Hillville 25 years ago. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Theresa Polio and Mrs. Nellie Garsella, of Hillville, and Mrs. Josephine Rossi, of Lowellville, O., and several grandchildren.

Funeral mass will be celebrated at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning in St. Lawrence church, Hillville, and interment will follow in the Holy Rosary cemetery, Lowellville.

David J. Carter.
David J., two-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carter, of Kerr street, who died in the New Castle hospital Thursday, has been interred in Grace-land cemetery.

The infant leaves besides his parents, two little sisters, Beverly Jean and Alice Joan, and grandmothers, Mrs. Jessie Carter, of Mercer, and Mrs. and Mrs. James Covert, of Grove City.

Elmer E. Coates.
Elmer E. Coates, for many years sexton for the First Methodist Episcopal church, recently retired, passed away Sunday at his home, 371 Mahanock avenue, after a long illness.

Mr. Coates was born in Pittsburgh, son of Daniel and Anna Bateman Coates. He had been a resident of New Castle for fifty years, and was a member of the First M. E. church, where he worked so long and so faithfully. He had been retired just two years.

He was a member of the Protected Home Circle and was on the honorary list of Volunteer Firemen. He was a man liked by everyone; his passing brings sadness to a great number of friends.

He leaves his wife, Iona B. Coates.

Mrs. Louis Boron.
Mrs. Stella Boron, aged 33 years, wife of Louis Boron, of 28 Miller street, died Sunday in the New Castle hospital, after an illness.

Mrs. Boron was born June 2, 1905, in New Castle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ignacy Kolodziej. She leaves her husband, two sons, Leon and Thaddeus, her mother, Mrs. Kune-gunda Kolodziej, two sisters, Mrs. Frances Gollis and Helen, and four brothers, Walter Casimir, Edward and Frank.

Funeral services will be conducted Thursday at 9:30 o'clock from the family residence and at 10 a. m. from SS. Philip and James church, with Rev. V. V. Stanekowski in charge. Interment will follow in Madonna cemetery.

Mrs. Anna Prather Snodgrass.
Mrs. Anna Prather Snodgrass, aged 83 years, a former resident of New Wilmington, widow of Alfred Snodgrass, died at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Marie Snodgrass Pife, at Canonsburg, Pa.

She leaves, besides her daughter, two sons, William B. of Seattle, Wash., and George H. of Casper, Wyo., a number of grandchildren, and one sister, Miss Sarah Prather of New Wilmington.

After services at Canonsburg the body will be brought to New Wilmington for further services at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, eastern standard time, in the New Wilmington U. P. church. Burial will be made in a nearby cemetery.

Mrs. D. B. Beale.
Mrs. Elizabeth Beale, aged 63 years, wife of D. B. Beale, died at her home in Bessemer at about 11 o'clock Saturday night after an illness of some time.

Mrs. Beale was born at Allegheny on December 9, 1874. She was married in Butler on December 7, 1898, and for the past 25 years had been a resident of Bessemer, with a wide circle of friends. She was a member of the Bessemer Presbyterian church.

She leaves her husband, three sons, Raymond C. and Frank B. of Bessemer, and Dr. Allen W. of Warren, O.; one daughter, Ida Mae, of Bessemer, four grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Robert Dietrich of Pittsburgh and Mrs. Mary El of Atlantic City.

Funeral services will take place at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Bessemer Presbyterian church, with the pastor, Rev. W. J. Enkle, and Rev. L. L. Tait of Brockway in charge. Interment will be made in Lake Park cemetery, Youngstown.

Broadbent Services.
Services for the late Thomas Henry Broadbent, of Bismarck street, were conducted this morning at 10 o'clock from the Obit funeral home with Rev. S. E. Irwin, D. D., First United Presbyterian minister, officiating. Interment was made in Mercer cemetery.

The pallbearers were Terry L. May, Jr., G. W. May, Dr. T. K. Hess, Henry Broadbent, Warren Broadbent and Harry Broadbent.

Swadner Services.

ACTS AS CITY CLERK.
Miss Maxine Gildespie, secretary to Mayor Charles E. McGrath today had her first turn as "city clerk."

And she did all right; in fact, very good.

She was requested to act as city clerk due to the absence of City Clerk C. Ed. Brown, whose mother passed away yesterday.

snakes, taking small chances, and giving auto drivers much concern. We have seen them jumping on a street car, running up the hills, and some riding along at night without a light.

A few days ago, a five-foot racer snake was found in front of the Cathedral by Elmer Farrell and George W. Miller, who operate the city street sweeper.

These snakes are quite frequently found in the country districts, but they were rarely that afraid of things found in the city streets.

The blue racer is in the class of the blacksnake, and is not harmful, but as we all know, snakes cause an uneasy feeling to those who behold them.

FAITH

We find in going through some of our cemeteries that some funeral directors are not satisfied with rendering service to a family, no doubt for which they have received their pay, but insist on using the grave for a place to advertise, some going so far as to place them on graves where they were not the funeral director. It is all right and very proper to give the family a small marker to mark the grave of their deceased until they see fit to buy a monument or headstone, but should have enough of respect for them not to use this privilege for a place to advertise their profession. A great many leading cemeteries will not allow this, and others should follow suit.

WHITE-LEONARD WEDDING NEWS

Before an assemblage of friends and relatives of the couple, Miss Mary Ann White, charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James White, of Oil City and Frank Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Leonard, of 210 South Jefferson street, were united in holy matrimony on Saturday morning, June 4, in St. Joseph's church, Oil City. The Rev. Fr. Lynch officiated.

Miss Catherine White, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Louis Leonard, brother of the groom, served as best man. Following the ring ceremony, the newlyweds were tendered a dinner in the bride's home. Members of the immediate families were present. Saturday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard left for Pittsburgh, where they spent the week end.

The bride is a graduate of Seton Hill college, and at present is dietitian at the New Castle hospital. Mr. Leonard is a graduate of Thiel college, Greenville.

The newlyweds are at home to their friends at 210 South Jefferson street.

RECENT BRIDE IS HONORED AT BUTLER

In honor of Mr. Howard M. Oesterling, nee Rachel A. Otto, a bride of recent date, Mrs. W. H. Oesterling of Butler, Pa., entertained at a shower in her home Friday night, June 3.

Cards were the feature of the evening. At an appropriate time, a beautifully appointed lunch was served by Mrs. W. H. Oesterling, assisted by Mrs. Helen Fetterman and Mrs. George Neyman. The guest of honor was then invited into the living room, where she received a collection of lovely gifts, also their best wishes for her continued happiness.

P. E. O. SISTERHOOD DINNER ON JUNE 16

The meeting of the P. E. O. Society scheduled for Saturday afternoon, June 11, has been postponed until Thursday, June 16, when they will enjoy a 6 o'clock dinner at the home of Mrs. R. F. Roberts, of Barbour Place.

Jolly Sewing Circle

There will be a meeting for all members of the Jolly Sewing Circle on Friday evening in the home of Mary Murdoch, Cascade street.

PARTY SATURDAY EVE FOR LEVINAH STEWART

Miss Levinah Stewart, a bride-elect of this month, was honored at a shower Saturday evening in the home of Mrs. Florence Flannery, Pearson street. Guests were present for the occasion from Sharon and Titusville.

The evening hours were spent in playing various games with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Dorothy Davis and Miss Helen Carlberg. Miss Stewart was presented with many lovely gifts which were arranged in a novel manner. The gifts were attached to numerous pink and white streamers which were suspended from a chandelier. A delicious lunch was served as the concluding feature of the evening.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED SATURDAY

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Browning, of Pearson street, celebrated their first wedding anniversary on Saturday evening when they entertained informally a group of guests at bridge.

Three tables of players competed for honors, awards going to Mrs. Russell Linger, William Richards and Carl Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Browning invited the group into the dining room, where they were served a tempting repast at an attractively appointed table, which was carried out in the all white motif. The menu was enjoyed by candle light. Mrs. Ethel Armstrong, mother of the hostess, aided.

As the occasion drew to a close, the hosts were taken by complete surprise when they were presented with a shower of anniversary gifts in behalf of those surrounding them.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Linger, of Elizabeth, Pa., who shared, remained as house guests of the Brownings.

M. And N. C. Club

M. and N. C. club members gathered on a recent evening in the home of Mrs. E. W. Smith, West Clayton street. Bridge formed the evening's pastime with prizes falling to Mrs. Earl Wallover, Mrs. Lucy O'Donnell and Mrs. Smith.

On June 16 Mrs. Hattie Nowling, Epworth street, will be hostess to the group.

R. U. Club

Members of the R. U. club will gather in their club rooms, 809 South Jefferson street, this evening at 8 o'clock for their regular meeting.

Mrs. Josephine Cople and her aides will be hostesses.

BREWSTER HOME SCENE OF PRETTY WEDDING

A pretty wedding of Saturday afternoon took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wythe Brewster in Mt. Jackson, when their daughter Jean became the bride of Clarence D. Shumaker, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Traister of this vicinity.

The ceremony took place at 2:30 o'clock in the living room before an embankment of garden flowers and ferns, with the Rev. E. A. Shoemaker of the Westfield church officiating. He was assisted by the Rev. R. N. Haverfield of Monongahela and Dr. A. H. Baldinger of Pittsburgh. The single ring service was used, and the vows were pledged in the presence of relatives and friends numbering 55. Rev. Baldinger assisted at the wedding of the bride's parents 35 years ago.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white chiffon, floor length, and her cap shape veil of tulle was made en train. She carried an arm bouquet of gardenias and white delphinium. Miss Virginia Morrison of Wilkesburg as maid of honor, wore a pink tulle length organdie gown and she carried pink roses and blue delphinium. The four-year-old Thelma McCurry, cousin of the bride, in a blue organdie frock, was flower girl, and Ross Fullerton, another cousin of the bride, six years old, was ring bearer.

Harold Traister of Beaver Falls served as best man.

The wedding music was provided by Miss Margaret Duff and two vocal duets, "I Love You Truly" and "I Promise You", were sung by Mrs. E. C. Wiggins and William McCombs, with piano accompaniment. A wedding luncheon was served afterwards, and later, the couple departed on a ten-day trip. She wore a traveling purplish dress with mulberry toned coat and navy blue accessories.

The bride attended Penn Hall at Chambersburg and also Westminster college. He graduated from the Kittanning high school and attended Clarion State Teachers college. At present he is associated with the local Kirk-Hutton Hardware company, and this winter he will take an extension course at a school in Cleveland, O.

Out of town guests included Rev. and Mrs. R. M. Haverfield of Monongahela, Mrs. Harriet Cornwell of Wooster, O., Mr. and Mrs. Howard Greig of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Traister and son of Beaver Falls, Mrs. William Anderson, Margaret Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, all of Vandergrift, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith of Kittanning, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Shumaker of Cleveland, O., Rev. and Mrs. Baldinger of Pittsburgh and Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Taggart of East Palestine, O.

Twaddle-Carrigan Wedding At Sundown Is Impressive Event

At sundown Sunday afternoon, a charming couple were united in marriage when Miss Jean Twaddle, daughter of Mrs. Jessie Twaddle of 737 Croton avenue, became the bride of Glenn M. Carrigan, son of Mrs. Eva Carrigan of South Mill street, at a beautiful wedding which took place in the Croton Avenue M. E. church.

The vows were exchanged at 4 o'clock in the presence of 500 guests, with the Rev. J. A. Cousins, pastor, officiating with the impressive single ring service. Appropriate wedding music was contributed by Frank Taylor, Jr., organist, preceding and throughout the ceremony.

The bridal party entered to the strains of the Wedding March, and stood before the beautifully embanked altar, outlined with ferns, palms and huge baskets of varicolored flowers.

Attired in a Queen Ann gown of white satin, with white lace redingote fastened down the front with white frogs, and veil of tulle, made en train, the bride presented a lovely picture. She was given in marriage by her brother, James Twaddle. Her arm bouquet was of Bouvardia and valley lilies.

As matron of honor, Mrs. George Emerick, sister of the bride, wore a melba peach chiffon gown, floor length cut with full circular skirt, and full bodice. A band of white baby mums adorned her head, and her arm bouquet was of yellow and sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Gerald Newton of Ellwood City and Mrs. Richard Mason of this city were maids of honor. They, too, were attired in gowns made identical of aqua chiffon, made on lines similar to the matron of honor's. Their head bands were entwined yellow daisies and their flowers were also similar to Mrs. Emerick's.

Gerald Newton of Ellwood City served the groom as best man, and ushering were Paul and Thomas Twaddle, brothers of the bride. All the men wore suits of white.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Twaddle wore a delphinium blue lace gown with large white hat, and accessories in white. Mrs. Carrigan chose a shell pink lace ensemble, with blue accessories and a large blue hat. Both had shoulder corsages of gardenias.

Following the bride and groom, with their mothers and the bridal party in the receiving line, greeted their host of friends in a short reception at the rear of the church. Later, they went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Twaddle on River-view avenue, where an additional reception took place for the immediate families and a few guests. A buffet supper was served to 75, the wedding appointments being further developed in the traditional pink and blue theme.

The center of the bridal table was adorned with a cluster of orange blossoms, guarded at either side by double branching candelabrum holding glowing waxen candles. On the buffet, the wedding cake was prominently placed, the top being encircled with dainty rose buds, and in the center were a pair of white doves. The base was flanked with a wreath of gardenias, a striking note.

Aiding Mrs. William Twaddle in serving were Mrs. Ivor Richards, Mrs. James Coons and Mrs. James Twaddle.

Immediately following, Mr. and Mrs. Carrigan departed on a motor trip to Philadelphia, New York, Washington, D. C., and other points of interest. Upon their return here in two weeks they will reside until fall at the home of the bride's mother, later going to housekeeping. For traveling the bride's blonde beauty was further enhanced, she donning a white sharkskin suit with poude blue blouse. Her accessories were carried out in pastels.

Mrs. Carrigan is a graduate of New Castle high school and is affiliated in the offices of Dr. S. Skole, as his assistant. She also attended Slippery Rock Teachers college for two years. Mr. Carrigan attended the local high school and is now connected with Cunningham-Weingartner Florists here.

The rehearsal dinner took place on Saturday evening.

Guests from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. William Patterson and son Billy, Mrs. Martha Shumaker and daughter Ruth of Akron, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Frederick of Amherst, O.; Mr. and Mrs. James Coons of Lorain, O.; Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Lane and daughter Louise of Alliquippa, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Emery of Pittsburgh and Mr. and Mrs. James Twaddle and daughter Joan of Altoona.

The bride has been feted at a series of parties and showers, and the couple received a magnificent collection of wedding gifts, which were displayed at the bride's home.

MOTHS DESTROYED MORE GARMENTS THAN FIRE IN 1937

How to Safeguard Your Furs and Winter Garments

Keeping abreast with the new scientific developments in the Dry Cleaning world, Smith's are in a position to render the finest cleaning service money can buy.

Our modern air-conditioned cold storage vault, equipped with specially designed refrigerative system, is the safe place to store your valuable furs and winter garments to safeguard them from moths, fire, theft and heat.

Smith Dry Cleaners also offer a responsible fur cleaning, glazing and repairing service. We use regular furrier's equipment in restoring new life to your fur and fur-trimmed coats. Furs are made soft and pliable, and shedding is prevented.

Smith's are now using a new approved method of fur glazing, which is a special product imported from the Orient. This process softens, renews color and adds life and lustre to your furs.

Expert furriers in charge will be glad to give you any information you desire on furs, a service which we are proud to offer without obligation.

SPEEDING ADJOURNMENT

REORGANIZATION of independent government commissions, bureaus and agencies goes over to the Seventy-sixth congress in January. This has been agreed to by the executive and his party leaders. It is just as well. We have had a surfeit of legislative endeavor, and so have the national lawmakers. The present congress was in session last year from early January until late in August and, at the call of the president, from November 15 to the holidays. Its present session has been continuous since January 3.

Once disposition has been made of the wages and hours bill, now in conference of committees of the two chambers, the general program will have been disposed of. Decks will be clean, because there is no holdover legislation in an election year. All starts de novo.

There will be hosts of primary contests for the 435 house and 32 senate seats. They will be complicated in many instances by the disposition of the administration to penalize those who did not go along with it on every major measure, including the plan to add to the membership of the Supreme Court. For scores of the lawmakers, therefore, early fence-building within the Democratic party will be the order of the day.

That Democratic majorities will shrink is the general lesson of by-elections in presidential second terms. The most optimistic Republican has no hope this year that his party will carry the house. But the president's insistence at Arthurdale upon a general overhauling next year of the federal tax structure is counted upon by many to contribute to Republican gains.

GOOD POLICY

Dennis Mulligan, director of the Air Commerce Bureau at Washington, has promised that this branch of the federal service will pursue the policy of finding out all it can about airplane crashes and telling the public the entire story.

That is sound common sense. Attempts to suppress information about commercial disasters only increases public suspicion regarding their severity. The best thing always is to let the full light of publicity fall where it may be in the interest of informed opinion.

As a matter of fact, the airplane companies are able to make a tolerably good statistical showing with respect to the relative infrequency of tragic occurrences.

Not only the Air Commerce Bureau but the aviation concerns themselves will be wise to end all efforts at suppression. Confidence in commercial flying cannot be successfully furthered behind a veil of secrecy.

KNOWLEDGE VS. WISDOM

Education, according to Dr. William Mather Lewis, president of Lafayette college, is falling down because it fails to translate knowledge into wisdom.

All too many people, schoolmen included, do not understand the distinction. Wisdom has been defined as "knowledge digested by thought; discernment based on experience."

The schools and colleges, in Dr. Lewis' opinion, are spending so much time cramming young minds with factual information that they are losing sight of education's proper goal—the stimulation and development of intelligent thinking.

The one encouraging fact is that educational administrators of the Lewis type are beginning to recognize the deficiency and stress wisdom, rather than mere memorization, as the true academic barometer.

America's institutions of learning will exert an increasingly vital influence as they put this sound principle into effect.

THE EPICUR

When members of the family of Pericles' oldest citizen, Mrs. Mary Freeze, who reached her one hundred and third birthday recently, made their plans for the celebration of the anniversary, thought naturally turned to a huge cake with eight or ten eggs, covered with white icing and adorned with countless candles.

Mrs. Freeze, being a woman of cultivated taste, vetoed the plans and expressed a preference for a loaf of corn bread. Her judgment is to be commended. There are few better ways of extending into the second century of life than with the physical sustenance, the vigor of spirit to be found in corn bread, which is the food of pioneers—rugged individuals who took things as they came—Indians, bears, varmints of assorted types, drought, famine, the wrath of God and the redcoats.

Small wonder Mrs. Freeze has lived to be a hundred and three. Indeed, it will be passing strange if she doesn't round out her second century, still going strong.

The meek will inherit the earth, but you can't prove it by Austria.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

YOUTH UNAFRAID

Youth has rolled up its sleeves in California and started digging toward the bedrock of problems that are today baffling youth's elders. The first of its kind in state history, a California youth model legislature held sessions during the second week in May. A two-day convocation of 1,000 delegates in San Francisco, members of this assembly and senate wrestled with the problems of youth in a changing and troubled world where the spectre of joblessness and the demon of insecurity are locked in an anxious struggle with the universal urge for happiness and economic well-being. California's farmers of tomorrow also added their spade work to youth's activities at a state-wide convention of future farmers at San Luis Obispo, held at the same time. Their eighteen-year-old national president stated bluntly: "The position of agriculture in the nation will be enormously improved when the future farmers of America assume their position of leadership.

That's youthful optimism for you! Probably at no time in recent years have these farmers of tomorrow faced a sterner outlook. Markets abroad are increasingly threatened by self-sufficiency programs of dictator-ridden nations. At home they face the menace of internal blockades set up by congressional practitioners of scarcity.

Even today national markets for California's farm produce, as well as for the farm produce of the other forty-seven states, are on the legislative firing line, with Representative Patman anxious to pull the trigger on all centrally run retail systems, using super-taxation as his ammunition. If he succeeds, today's California farmers will be deprived of one of the most effective distributive channels modern marketing has yet evolved.

Yet if the future farmers and the youth legislature banished none of these complex problems of distributing goods and income wisely, they at least confronted them squarely—which is half of any man's battle.

An Arkansas man the other day was found to have married 16 wives. This sure is bringing the "16-to-one" principle right home.

Illuminating Candor

WASHINGTON, June 8. ON THURSDAY, while the Senate was considering the amendment providing for the instant dismissal of any official connected with the administration of relief funds who used either his position or money to influence or interfere with election results, Senator Chavez, of New Mexico, in a burst of frankness, declared: "Adopt this amendment and you will defeat such Senators as Senator Barkley."

AT ONCE Senator Guffey, of Pennsylvania, where relief is fairly rotten with politics, rushed over and shook his hand. The amendment was defeated. A more honest crowd could hardly be made. Here is an Administration, the head of which solemnly pledged himself when Government first entered the relief business to keep politics out, using its full weight to prevent adoption of an amendment to punish political activity upon the part of relief officials—an activity which has not only been charged but proven.

ON TOP OF THIS comes the statement from one Administration Senator, applauded by another Administration Senator, that should such prohibition be voted, the Administration Senate leader, endorsed by the President, and a candidate for renomination in Kentucky, cannot be successful. Senator Chavez went further. In effect, he told his colleagues they might as well be honest about it and admit that support of the voters on relief is essential to Administration candidates and that "many of us" would not be in the Senate at all but for that support. It is doubtful whether in the whole history of the Senate a more candid and degrading revelation has been made. In so many words, it was asserted that the election of Administration Senators depends upon the funds intended to relieve human misery—that without the influence of these funds, they will be defeated. If it does not mean that, it does not mean anything.

IF THE PEOPLE as a whole could be gotten to grasp the full implication of Senator Chavez' statement, of the renominations of Senator Guffey and of the amazing speech of Senator Barkley himself, it is inconceivable that the reaction would not be very great. If they lack the capacity to be indignant and resentful over this situation, they are in a sad state, indeed, and nothing can be done. The difficulty, of course, is to get home the facts, not to the people who have already seen through the sham righteousness of the Administration, but to those who still remain under the New Deal delusions and accept at face value its promises and professions, despite the tragic failure of its experiments and the awful examples of waste, confusion and governmental demoralization which confront them.

WITH SUCH PEOPLE it isn't easy to deal. They are so saturated with the New Deal propaganda, so steeped in the belief that all criticism comes from the "Tories" or "Wall Street" or "the economic royalists" so convinced that the President is the pure-minded champion of the down-trodden and oppressed, that they reject the evidence of their own senses and desperately cling to their beliefs long after their hollowness has been revealed. The truth is that in the coming primaries the Administration is exerting itself to the limit to drive out of public life the nine Democratic Senators who voted against Mr. Roosevelt's court-packing bill and are now up for renomination. In this effort the relief machine is the main reliance. Against one of these Senators—Gillette, in Iowa—the head of the WPA, Mr. Hopkins, has openly arrayed himself, which is equivalent to reviling the organization which he controls. Until Mr. Hopkins' declaration, Senator Gillette's renomination was not really threatened and the young rubber-stamp Congressman for whom Mr. Hopkins declared was not considered a formidable aspirant.

IN ALL the other States these anti-court-packing Senators will be opposed by "hundred per cent. Roosevelt men," who go into the field with (Continued On Page Six)

THE IMPORTANT MATTER

A little brown quail has bulled her nest
In the strangest of places,
Where men-driven golf balls come to rest
In the bunkered spaces.

And there she sits 'neath the summer sky
At her task of brooding,
And no doubt peers with a questioning eye
At the men intruding.

A white thing rolls on the bunker sand
From the sweet green grasses
Which a man strikes at with a club
In hand.

Then onward passes.
And over and over men come and go
A ball pursuing,
But never the little brown quail
shall know
Just what they're doing.

We have posted a sign all players to warn
From such sacred patches,
For it is important that quail
be born
Than men win matches.

WOO WOO WORTLE, WHO HAS NEVER EVEN BEEN SPANKED

HINTS and DINTS

Sun sets tonight 7:26. Sun rises tomorrow 4:31.

Someone sent us a necktie some days ago from the men's shop in the Waldorf in New York. We know what kind of tie cost—$5.50. We paid that for one just like it in the same store. There was no name on the package. Thanks, anyhow. Real sport!

When two politicians get together after they have each lost a fight, you can bet the harmony is for 50-50 at the next election.

At the U. S. mint in San Francisco Chinese dollars and half dollars are being made for China. We are betting they are being made by cash on delivery, since as many other things are being made for warring nations in Europe.

Mrs. Hum bought him a new polka-dot necktie for his birthday. Asked if he liked it, he replied: "Oh, it's all right in spots."

A VITAL DIFFERENCE
The weakness of the Thomas that have been promised by democrats in recent years is that they are to be achieved by payments in money instead of payments in things.

The difference is vital. The purchasing power of money is so elastic that it is conceivable that a pension of $200 a month to every person over sixty might, if such a drastic old-age pension were enacted, have the purchasing power of a special delivery stamp as of 1935.

If I were to be attracted by radical government plans for taking care of my old age, I should like to have, not money, but Shelter, a modest cottage on an acre of land suitable for gardening. The usual gadgets for comfortable living, such as electrical devices and a radio.

A small automobile. Clothing, in sufficient variety to make me comfortable in any weather or occupation. And a government ticket that would permit me to commandeer modest supplies of food, gasoline, books, magazines and newspapers. Conceivably, I might be able to have that much at a cost to the government of $60 in current dollars. If I shared my things with another aged person who received the same amount.

The foregoing is the kind of old-age protection that thrifty and industrious people have tried to provide for themselves since the beginning of civilization. Because it is sensible and modest, it is realizable. Schemes for paying $200 a month are as fantastic as the dreams of an opium-eater.

A Pittsburgh man was put in jail for beating up his sweetheart. He said he beat her for her quiet. He had beaten her before. No doubt, she will marry him when he gets out of jail and she gets out of the hospital.

But sometimes they suffer in heroic silence because if they described the pain it wouldn't seem very impressive.

Flowers are like that, too. Cut rose buds open much quicker in the South, and the roses are quicker to fade.

"A baby's heart beats twice as fast as yours"—M. D.'s column. Not if you're sixteen and refer to her as a swell baby.

The bellboy who opens all the windows in the room for the hotel guest without seeing any evidences of a tip, has to fall back on "Any-thing else, sir?"

It's always well to look into a proposition presented to you by a

Good Taste

By U. S. BAKER

When a big business is looking for a man to fill a responsible position in its place, they look around to find the best man fitted for the position. They take no chances as to his ability. When a public official is elected, generally no attention is paid to his ability to hold the office. People just vote blindly for most any person.

President Roosevelt will appoint a Republican to an office if he is sure the man is in sympathy with his policies and can change his mind when the President does.

Every group has its knits, those who are easily offended, and those who are like young parents trying to keep a spoiled baby pacified before company.

Those in the wrong have the advantage. More wrong doesn't hurt their case, but those in the right are standing every time they blunder.

Amateurism: Millions of poor people forced to live in tenements and hotels, wishing we had something for jobless men to do.

"Nobody was found so frantic to acquire bad stocks as a small-town doctor"—S. E. Post article. Well, Doc gets much of his living from bad stock.

We'll never know what whether Congress came to New because of the vote in Florida or because the boys wanted some of that easy money to mend political fences.

Blessed are the poor. The love they get, if any, isn't mixed up with interest in their pocketbooks.

The old literary Dilemma is dead—sacrificed to the new idea that a promise or system is wrong if it suffers during a depression.

It may be that the money spenders in Washington want school teachers, congressmen and all county and city officials to pay an income tax, because they would get more money to spend.

Laziness is only condemned among those who cannot afford it.

When groups are violent and lawless, it isn't all their fault. They are trying to solve problems the lawmakers won't solve.

Horoscope for today: Mars is ascending again, which indicates trouble. Babies born today will spend their lives working to pay interest.

The cheer singers don't get any kick singing to the congregation, 'cause they sit there like a lot of mummies.

If Mr. Margulies can prove the things he charges before the November election, he can be elected to most anything in Pennsylvania next time they elect high officials. We hope he has the stuff and makes good on it.

Readers' Questions Answered
Dear Miss Market—I have received an invitation to a tea given by two hostesses. The formal, engraved card reads thus:

Mrs. John Smith
Mrs. Martin Jones
will be at home, etc.
It is impossible for me to attend. What reply should I make?

Answer—If there is no R.S.V.P. on an invitation to a tea, no reply is necessary. If you cannot attend simply send through the mail or with one of your friends who will attend, your visiting card so that it will arrive on the day of the tea. Include it in an envelope without any note of explanation. In your case address it to "Mrs. Smith" at whose home the tea will take place. A card should be sent (or left at the hostess' home if you attend the tea) for each woman whose name is mentioned in the invitation.

Miss Market will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader enclosing a self-addressed three-cent stamped envelope.

G. O. P. Strategy At Work
Take Right Course In Congress
Let Democrats Fight It Out

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Republican management has been first-rate throughout all the fighting which has been raging in congress in recent months between "pro" and "anti" New Dealers.

The G. O. P. senators and representatives are "anti" of course. Even if a few of them are in personal sympathy with certain New Deal policies, they are "anti" on partisan grounds. And they all vote persistently. Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California for example always has been a mighty liberal and occasionally an outright bolting Republican. Nevertheless he has been as consistent a New Deal "anti" as any Old Guard member of late. Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska might be cited as an exception. He has been very regularly "pro" New Deal. However, he was not elected the last time as a Republican, but as an Independent.

Now, the New Deal naturally has been exceedingly repulsive to old-line Republicanism all along. It has been a terrible temptation to its spokesmen to give it oratorical hedges on Capitol Hill. Yet they have exercised an admirable restraint. Why?

Well, they showed remarkable political good sense. If the Democrats had stuck together behind the administration there would have been nothing left for the Republicans to do except to yell their heads off impotently as the overwhelming majority proceeded to ram the New Deal program through in all its details.

But G. O. P. leadership had the perspicacity to foresee from the first that the enormous preponderance of the Democrats virtually assured strife within itself. The Republicans had reason to know this for they have had huge congressional majorities of their own and were aware, from sad experience, that too big a majority may be a liability, not an asset.

So they sat back, kept quiet and waited for the Democrats to start their own internal row.

And did the row start? Oh my! LEADERS REMAINED QUIET

Had the Republicans begun howling openly soon they probably would have solidified congressional Democracy but they did not make that mistake.

Even since the internal Democratic row has started most Republican legislators have kept hushed. An occasional Republican lawmaker has effervesced—like Senator H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, and Representative Charles E. Hoffman of Michigan in the lower house.

But Republican senatorial leader, Charles L. McNary, of Oregon and representative leader, Bertrand H. Snell of New York did not want that kind of G. O. P. talk.

What McNary and Snell wanted, if a Republican thought up a good job to take at New Dealerism, was to have him suggest it to an anti-New Deal Democrat to express, thus emphasizing the split in Democratic ranks. That individual Republican would have been desirous to get credit for their personal wise-cracks, but McNary and Snell have kept the "masher" on them all they could.

AS STEWART SEES IT
National Republican management has been politically awful, it goes almost without saying.

Republican congressional leadership, however, has been elegant. It has done more than its fair part toward involving the New Deal in a jam.

It is a case of jiu-jitsu—attack your opponent where he is weakest.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1938 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

A friend of mine recently bought a 200-year-old house in the country, and employed an old neighborhood carpenter to remodel it. There were no closets.

"Where in the world did you people keep your clothes?" asked my friend. "We hung our Sunday suits on a peg" said the old man.

That's a bit of Americana in the remote background of the 825 closet doors for the Hook and Ladder bridge housing development under the New York City Housing authority. A news item records that $240,000 will be saved by providing a door for only one of the three closets in each four-room apartment. Any report of any sort of governmental economy whatsoever is good news these days, but what about $25 for a closet door? I asked my friend, the one who is fixing up the old house, about it.

"Most of my closets are upstairs," he said, "where I used knotty pine for trim and doors, with a colorful protective varnish and a wax finish. I found a place in lower New York where I got some beautiful old fashioned iron thumb-latches for 50 cents. The lumber for each door cost $1.50. The old carpenter put the door together in an hour or two. Counting hardware, lumber and labor, $4 would be a liberal estimate. The natural finish of the wood is pleasing, and is greatly admired by my friends. A rich man owns the road, he could afford to pay $100 for a door, is copying mine. The lumber is thoroughly seasoned, and for all practical purposes the doors are as good as the most expensive you could buy."

Certainly no sensible person would counsel sleazy work or materials in our housing developments. Buildings must be sound and durable and built for a minimum of repairs and upkeep. But if a closet door costs $25, what would the other closet cost?

These individual individuals are continually finding both utility and beauty in the use of some simple materials. Couldn't the government do the same? Certainly there should be tremendous economies in its mass-purchasing and mass-production facilities if properly organized.

What about our great venture in housing and slum clearance to date? The answer is that there has been virtually no slum clearance, the people for whom the model houses are being built can't live in them.

In the South, where this reform is most desperately needed, more than $29,000,000 has been spent without lifting a single slum dweller—of the lower depths—out of his hole. In a half dozen Southern cities there are multitudes of blacks and whites living in unspeakably foul, dangerous, crowded, festering tenements and shanties.

There have been some splendid new developments, with a greenward, light and air on all sides, all conveniences and superb architectural devices for the maximum of beauty and use. To those for whom they were built, they are as remote and unattainable as mansions in the sky. The $20 or $25 a month rental made necessary by such ambitious building is far beyond their means. The houses are occupied by white-collar and skilled workmen of greater earning power.

That is certainly an achievement, to provide this splendid housing for those who can pay the rent, but the brutal fact is that we haven't even made a start in attacking the menace and the misery of the city slum jungles and the wretched, unsanitary and disease-breeding hovels of the rural regions. The slacks still stand on the debit side of our unending fight against the hopeless degradation of our people.

In the South, particularly, where heating isn't such a problem as in the North, it certainly would be possible to build fairly adequate housing at just about half the cubic content cost of the developments now built or planned. Informed persons assure me that this is true. For instance, many of the houses that are now have tiled bathrooms. Any kind of a bathroom, any kind of adequate plumbing, would be luxurious luxury to the unhappy dwellers in our city and rural slums.

This is no place for a technical discussion of building, but a young architect of my acquaintance showed me specifications for a four-room small house which he said he could build in the south, of sound materials and workmanship, for $2,250. Large-scale production, he said, ought to bring this down to about $1,800. I noted that the house had three closets, all with doors.

These considerations naturally take into account the fact that, regardless of our private views on government paternalism, we are up to our neck in huge expenditures on housing, and this being true, there is every reason in the world why it should be devised for urgent social amelioration, where it is most desperately needed.

England has gone farther than we have in this direction and has spent more, but it actually has cleared slums and has provided decent, sanitary housing for millions of its most unfortunate citizens. It is already noting social gains in the health, less crime and less hazard, and a general heightened morale among the "children of the abyss."

Students Show Use Of Pottery Study

Present Playlet Carrying Out Ideas Taught During School Year

When many subjects are taught about a certain phase of interest, it is known as a unit of work. Members of the 2-A class at Oak street school, under the supervision of Miss Ina Rosenberg, completed a unit of work on pottery and in connection with their work and a program, during the past week, showing how the different subjects were used.

The program, following: "How the First Dishes Were Made," Jean Tammello; dramatics, a play, "How the First Dishes Were Made," Jean Tammello; music, rhythmic band, 2-A and 2-B class.

Those who assisted in preparing the program in many ways were the following: Miss I. V. Dary, principal of the school; Miss Ina Rosenberg, primary academic teacher, who organized the unit and taught reading, writing, numbers and spelling; Miss Frances Carlson, art teacher, who did all the art work in booklets, supervised the making of bowls and dishes from clay, the use of the pottery wheel and made the scenery for the play; Miss Dorothy Jenkins, language teacher, who helped write a story about the picture, "The Primitive Sculptor," by E. Irving Couse; and also Miss Virginia Bowman, health teacher, who taught the values of fruits, vegetables and milk on the table; Mrs. Martha Baldauf, nature study teacher, who had charge of how to plant seeds; Mr. Richardson, janitor, who made a pottery's wheel and the frame for the scenery; James K. Love, from the Shenango pottery, who gave clay for the bowls, baked and glazed them; Eugene Hoover, who took the 2-A class to the quarry; and the Sanitary Pottery, which donated clay.

Chinese Children Facing Starvation

Appalling Conditions existing in Refugee Camps Near Shanghai

LOOK TO AMERICA FOR FOODSTUFFS

NEW YORK, June 6.—Sixteen hundred babies born in Shanghai refugee camps during the past four months are threatened with death by starvation and disease, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., national chairman of the United Council for Civilian Relief in China, asserted today following receipt of dispatches from Mrs. E. P. Henry, Southern Methodist Church relief leader, in Shanghai.

Mrs. Henry reported that the 1,600 infants and thousands of other Chinese children are receiving only the barest sustenance owing to the lack of food. Colonel Roosevelt said, as he speeded up plans for the National Bowl of Rice Parties to be held on June 17th to aid destitute Chinese civilians.

"Our relief funds are diminishing rapidly and we are able to permit only the smallest rations to thousands of children," said Mrs. Henry's cable to Colonel Roosevelt. "Most of the adult refugees are subsisting on thin, popular buns and blue clay mixed with leaves. Conditions are much worse than in the 1921 famine."

"The summer conditions in most maternity centers are appalling," Mrs. Henry reported. "There is insufficient pure water for any purpose and milk—a luxury—spoils almost as soon as received. The heat is dreadful, and we are hampered by lack of medicine and sanitation equipment. We must have quick help from Americans if we are to save the lives of millions of these innocent victims of Japanese invasion."

The former Kansas City woman said in her dispatch that all welfare workers and physicians in China are anxiously awaiting the funds expected to be raised at the Bowl of Rice parties in 1,500 American cities on June 17th and are confident the American people will rally to the great humanitarian cause.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT FACE PIMPLES

These disfiguring little spots often result from a slight, temporary disturbance, or merely from incorrect cleansing, or sometimes they are more persistent due to deeper internal causes.

While properly treating the underlying cause, you can relieve the itchy, burning soreness and help your skin by using an ointment that will keep the medication in contact with the pimply spots. Apply it every night and leave it on all night. It does a world of good.

For more than 40 years people have used Resinol Ointment to fill this need. It soothes the irritation and aids healing. It also treats the oil pores where many surface pimples start. Washing first with Resinol Soap quickens the pleasing results.

MR. AND MRS. BROWN ARE AGAIN HONORED

In the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phillips of Edenburg, was a beautiful scene Saturday evening when they entertained a number of close friends of Mr. and Mrs. David Brown at a 6 o'clock dinner party in their home.

Long tables were set in the dining room and places marked for eighteen guests. A large bowl of red roses and lemon lilies formed the centerpiece, with tall tapers gracing the sides.

A delicious full course dinner was served by the hostess, assisted in serving by Mrs. Dave Jones, Mrs. John Kenehan and Mrs. Ed. O'Neil. The evening was spent informally with the main attention being centered around the game "Rumbo". At a suitable time, Mrs. Harvey Brenner, presented the honored guests with a lovely electrical gift in behalf of those present, as a token of the high esteem in which they are held. Mr. and Mrs. Brown responded graciously.

The Brown family will be greatly missed by their associates, they being transferred to Pittsburgh, where Mr. Brown has taken up his new duties at the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Company at Clairton.

M. B. W. S. CLUB MEETS AT OAK HILL FARM

The Oak Hill Farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McCormick, of the Harlanburg road was the scene of a gala affair on Saturday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Herman Swanson were hosts to members of the M. B. W. S. club at a picnic supper.

Because of the rainy weather, the supper was served buffet style in the house. Following supper, horse shoes and a ball game were enjoyed, and when darkness fell, all gathered in the house again for indoor games and chat.

At an appropriate time, Harry Lee McCormick, who will celebrate his birthday anniversary on June 17, was presented with a huge box laden with lovely gifts in behalf of those present.

At a late hour, the guests departed for their respective homes. Special guests who shared the evening's program were Mr. and Mrs. Sam Freed of New Castle.

The next meeting of the club will be held on June 24 with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McCormick as hosts.

Missionary Meeting
Ladies of the Missionary society of Center church met in the home of Mrs. Joseph Baldwin of the Butler road, recently. The day was spent in sewing and quilting. At noon a tureen dinner was served, the hostess being assisted by Mrs. David Baldwin, Mrs. Fred Baldwin, Mrs. Fannie Shira and Mrs. Clair Gibson.

At two o'clock, Mrs. William Leslie led the devotionals and conducted the educational program. During the business session, Mrs. B. M. Wallace, the president, appointed Mrs. William Leslie and Mrs. Charles Wellhausen to make arrangements for the prayer group which meets at the Center church on Tuesday.

June 7, from ten until one o'clock. This includes the women of Ellwood City, Warrenburg, Oak Grove, Camp Run, Mountville and Center U. P. churches.

Birthday Party
Jimmy Martin was honored Saturday when 20 little tots gathered at the home of his grandfather and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Gardner, East Brook, the occasion being his birthday anniversary. Flowers were arranged about the rooms, forming a pretty setting for the occasion. Games and stunts were enjoyed on the lawn throughout the day.

A lovely lunch was served at a table centered with a large birthday cake with five candles.

The honoree received many beautiful gifts and the little guests sang "Happy Birthday" in his honor.

Share Honors
Mrs. Joseph Hammond, 1814 East Washington street, and her granddaughter, Jo-Anne Johnston, of Ellwood City, shared honors at a surprise birthday dinner Sunday evening in the former's home.

Mr. Hammond celebrated her 76th anniversary while Jo-Anne observed her eighth birthday anniversary. Both received many lovely gifts from members of the family.

A bountiful dinner was served at five o'clock. Guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Delaney, Youngstown, O., and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnston and daughter, Jo-Anne, of Ellwood City. Eric Johnston was also a guest.

Jewish Ladies Relief
Election of officers will take place at the meeting of the Jewish Ladies Relief in the home of Mrs. Abe Fisher, Moody avenue, on Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock. This will be their last meeting of the season.

Allegre Club
There will be no meetings of the Allegre club until fall. The meeting scheduled for this Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Herbert Johnson, Cunningham avenue, has been cancelled due to a death.

W. W. T. Club
Members of the W. W. T. club will meet Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Agnes Lorenz, North street, instead of with Mrs. William McCullough, East Washington street, as previously scheduled.

West Side Needlecraft
West Side Needlecraft members will be entertained by Mrs. George Jackson, Round street, on Tuesday evening.

Tigers Auxiliary
This evening at 7 o'clock, the Tigers Auxiliary will have their regular monthly meeting in the club rooms on South Hill street.

GIRL SCOUTS
TROOP 18

On Wednesday Troop 18 held its regular meeting at Orr's hall. Patrol corners and interest groups were held. The girls in the nature group are beginning outlines of trees. A circle was formed and the girls sang songs. Registration fees were collected. Taps were sung and a court of honor was held.

NOVEL PROGRAM MARKS JUNIOR DAY RECITAL

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" dominated the scene at the annual Junior Day recital presented by the Music club Saturday afternoon in the Highland United Presbyterian church before an interested audience of parents and friends. A charming Snow White and seven darling dwarf dolls were displayed on the pianos and programs were decorated with Dopey and Snow White.

But even this fascinating theme was forgotten as the youth of New Castle rose to present the Junior version of music in our city. A well-balanced program of piano, violin and vocal selections had been arranged and was capably presented by a talented group of young people.

Miss Margaretta Hess, a member of the Music club, acted as hostess and made a few introductory remarks. At the close of the program she said, and the minds of each person in the audience echoed her thought, "If this is an example of the musical talent growing in New Castle, I think we have no need to fear for the future of our Music club."

Those taking part in the program included pianists Charlene Vogen, David Jones, Christina Christos, Marjorie Van, Patricia Ann Smith, Virginia Eakin, Jane Lee, Lina Lee, Mary Jane Long, Marilyn Kayle, Doris Fleeger, Leah Ruth Martin, Bobby Johnson and Barbara Edelstein; violinist Mary Louise Mielke, accompanied by Isabel Johnson; vocalists, Junius Foster, accompanied by Edwin Lewis, and Betty Robison, accompanied by Kathryn Nessie Allen, and clarinetist Barbara Van.

Missionary Society Meets
Members of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Epworth church gathered Friday afternoon at the church. Mrs. N. W. Calderwood led the devotionals after which an interesting program was presented.

Mrs. J. G. Forrest gave an interesting talk on stewardship concerning using our talent. Mrs. H. E. Marshall presented a review of the last chapter of the study book, "Mecca and Beyond". The title of the chapter was "The Moslem Attitude Toward Christ". "Japan, Divine Mission", an article was read by Mrs. J. E. Jackson. Questions from the mystery box were given by Mrs. W. J. Marshall.

Later the group adjourned to the dining room, where refreshments were served by the committee. Those on the committee were Mrs. Edward Shaffer, Mrs. Ella Gillette, Miss Elita Donaldson and Mrs. Emerson Flansburg. The tables were decorated with lovely June roses.

Plans were made for the group to have a picnic at the park on July 8.

TWO SHARE NUPTIAL HONORS AT PARTY

The I. B. H. class of the First Christian church met at a dinner held at the home of Mrs. W. R. Hanna, Englewood avenue on Saturday evening, June 4. The girls were invited into the dining room where a beautifully appointed table awaited them, graced in the center by a three-tiered wedding cake topped by miniature bride and groom.

The guests of honor of the evening were Miss Lavina Stewart, a bride-to-be of Tuesday, June 7, and Mrs. Howard M. Osterling, nee Rachel A. Otto, a bride of recent date.

At the completion of the dinner, each honored guest was asked to cut the wedding cake. When served, the cake was found to contain wedding tokens, the finding of which was carried out with much interest by the assembled guests.

At the close of the dinner, the honored ones were each presented with a lovely gift by the class.

Miss Stewart will become the bride of Seth Morrow on June 7.

Hundreds Flee From Villages, Volcano Erupts

(International News Service)

MANILA, June 6 — With the first eruption of Mount Mayon since 1928 hourly increasing in violence today, natives fled for safety from four towns at the base of the world's most perfect volcano cone.

An immense column of smoke was pouring into the sky. Eruptions at 30-minute intervals bombarded the island with huge breakers. Lava from the crater was slowly advancing on the town of Camalig.

Gov. Manuel Caltiga of Albay province, announced that refugee camps are being prepared for those who fled from Camalig, Daraga, Libog and Lagonoy.

Because the subterranean activity was not accompanied by earthquakes after activity began last Friday, the population remained calm until the increasingly violent eruptions of today. The volcano is located on the southernmost part of Luzon Island 200 miles southeast of Manila.

State Committee To Meet Saturday

Many local Republicans are preparing to go to Philadelphia where on Saturday, June 11, the biennial organization meeting of the Republican state committee will be held. The meeting will be held in the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel starting at 10 o'clock, Daylight Savings Time.

Lawrence county will be officially represented by Ivor V. Davis, who was elected state committeeman at the primary election held Tuesday, May 17. Many others will attend.

Congratulations

Phyllis Hayatt, of Washington, D. C., gives graduate Frank P. Quady, of Minneapolis, a kiss to go with the diploma from the United States Naval Academy. He's Ensign Quady now.

Congress Rushes Towards Saturday Adjournment

Leaders Insist President Have Spending Power

Would Permit President To Spend All W.P.A. Funds Before March 1

WAGE-HOUR BILL STILL UNSOLVED

By ARTHUR HACHTEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 6.—In a supreme effort to adjourn congress by Saturday, administration leaders today decided on day and night sessions to obtain action on a batch of measures.

While the adjournment date hinged chiefly upon the highly-controversial wage-hours bill, there were several other measures which Democratic leaders said they would like to see become law before the legislators call it quits.

Deficiency Bill

A "must" bill was the final deficiency appropriation bill which carry about $300,000,000 in appropriations for many agencies of the government in order to carry on the rest of the fiscal year.

The $3,722,000,000 relief-recovery bill upon which President Roosevelt has nailed his hope for return of prosperity was not expected to meet insurmountable barriers.

Determined to minimize the possibility of a special session of congress after the November elections, administration leaders disclosed they would insist upon senate amendments giving the president broad power in controlling the spend-and-extend program.

These amendments included one to permit the executive to spend all of the WPA funds before March 1, if conditions require; to spend $125,000,000 for direct relief or the dollar in event mass starvation threatens; and to distribute $212,000,000 to the farm belt in anticipation of surplus crops and low prices in the fall.

Food and Drug Bill.

Before the adjournment songs ring the Democratic leadership wants to send to the president for signature the bill to revise the food and drug laws as well as the measure setting up a new system of federal aid for the shipping industry.

Certain for passage before adjournment, it was said, is a resolution to create a committee to investigate monopolistic trends in industry and finance.

This resolution was considered by the senate judiciary committee today. It calls for a "national economic committee," consisting of three senators, three representatives and representation of the justice and commerce departments, the securities and exchange commission and the federal trade commission.

With an appropriation of $500,000 for expenses, the committee would conduct its investigation throughout the remainder of the year, with a view to making recommendations for legislation to the next congress.

A group of senators was pressing for final passage of a bill to revise the federal bankruptcy laws so as to facilitate the reorganization of corporations in distress, with safeguards for minority stockholders. There was doubt this measure would become law unless the session of congress is prolonged beyond Saturday.

Arrest Youths For Recent Robberies

Police Arrest Three, Question Another For Thefts During Past Month

Louis Conti, 205 North Liberty St., Tony Russo, 220 South Wayne St., and Leonard Pitocchi, 207 South Cedar street, youths, were arrested Saturday by Chief of Detectives Showalter, Lieutenant Kennedy and Patrolman Hagen. They were alleged to have been implicated in robberies during the past month, Frank Mangione, 110 South Cedar street, is also being quizzed concerning the robberies.

The alleged thefts occurred at the Davis gas station, West Washington street and Atlantic avenue, Hyde Pharmacy, North Liberty street and the Oakland service station.

The biggest theft was at the Davis gasoline station, where $63 in small change was secured which was exchanged for bills at a Youngstown bank.

Million And Half

Estate Disposed Of

(International News Service)

PATERSON, N. J., June 6.—Thirty men, women and institutions share in $1,650,000 left by the late Erskine Hewitt. But his pretty, dark haired niece, Anne Cooper Hewitt, receives not a cent.

The central figure of the celebrated "Hewitt sterilization case" is entirely ignored in the will, filed for probate here today.

Instead, the bulk of the bequest goes to a nephew, Norvin H. Green, of Tuxedo Park, N. Y. He gets $1,000,000 and has been named sole executor.

A more favored niece of Hewitt, Eleanor, the Princess Vigna, of Denmark, gets $500,000. Two daughters of Green get $25,000 each.

Resent Move For Investigation Of Spanish Air Raids

(International News Service)

LONDON, June 6.—Indications grew in diplomatic quarters today that Rome, Berlin, and Burgos will resent Britain's move to send a neutral commission to Spain to investigate air raids.

The United States, Norway, and Sweden, it was understood, were formally invited to join Britain on the commission. Reports say the United States declined.

Holdup Or What?

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, June 6.—Was it a "holdup" or wasn't it?

Late yesterday a neatly clad "hand-dit" walked into a store operated by Helen Broda, 30, impersonally opened the cash register, helped himself to the money and walked out.

That's all there was to it, Miss Broda said. He had no gun, and made no threats of any kind, she exclaimed. She was so surprised she didn't say a word, she told police.

BOTH regular, and also the premium-priced tires of America's six largest tire manufacturers were submitted to road tests by us, with the following results:

"NON-SKID"—The new Goodrich Silvertown with the Life-Saver Tread gave greater skid resistance than any other tire tested, including those tires listed at from 40% to 70% higher in price.

"MILEAGE"—The Goodrich Silvertown gave more non-skid mileage than any of the other tires tested in its own price range—averaged 19.1% more miles before the tires wore smooth.

PITTSBURGH TESTING LABORATORY

HERE'S a new kind of tire that makes wet weather driving safer than you ever dreamed possible—a tire that changes the rain-drenched road under your car from a "skid trap" to a dry track!

It's the new Goodrich Silvertown with the Life-Saver Tread!

Next time it rains just notice the way your windshield wiper sweeps the water right and left to give you clear, safe vision. Well, that's how the amazing Life-Saver Tread on the new Goodrich Silvertown Tire performs on a wet road. It sweeps the water right and left—forces it out through the deep drainage grooves—makes a DRY TRACK for the rubber to grip.

Don't forget, when you equip your car with these new Goodrich Silvertowns you get this real life-saving skid protection, plus Golden Ply protection against high-speed blow-outs at NO EXTRA COST. Come in today.

Many Witness Model Airplane Show Saturday

New Castle Airport Is Scene Of Lively Event; Over Hundred Take Part

LION'S CLUB IS SPONSOR OF SHOW

Despite rain and high wind which prevailed at the New Castle Airport Saturday, the postponed flying model airplane show, sponsored by the New Castle Lions club was staged.

Several thousand persons gathered at the field to witness the spectacle, which was both new, interesting, exciting, and educational. Over 100 persons took part in the show by entering various types of model planes.

At the beginning of the contest, rain fell in torrents and chasers and spectators alike sought shelter. As soon as the rain left, the high wind which prevailed before the shower also left.

This provided excellent flying conditions for the model ships and the contest proceeded at full speed. An amplifying system was installed on the field and the various events and winners were announced by Jay G. Riddolph, Lion's club chairman in charge of the event.

In addition to the model aeroplanes, five large ships were at the field and they attracted considerable attention from the spectators. Visiting ships were those of J. C. Coll of Chardon, Pa., and Robert Brown, of this city, who stores his plane at the Bernard Airport in Youngstown.

Local ships who were on the field flying included those of Findley C. Wilson, William Lee and John Dochko.

An attractive group of prizes furnished by the Lions club and the Retail Merchants Association, were presented to the winners in the five contest divisions. Following persons were awarded prizes:

Gas Model Division: Dick Pugh, Melvin Douglas and Don Kemp.

Glider Division: Dick Pugh and Alan Chamberlain.

Fuselage Endurance, Junior and Senior: Theodore Laskey and Eugene Kerr.

Speed Model Division: Thaddeus Laskey and Harold Wright.

Flying School Models: John Wyza, William Clappie and Vivian Douglas.

Judges named by the Lion's club committee to select the contest winners were: Findley C. Wilson, chairman; William Lee, Rodney Williams, William Milson, William Hill, Paul Cristy and D. Martini.

Bible Conference Is Opened Sunday

Evangelist John Carrara Is Speaking At Calvary Gospel Tabernacle

Rev. R. J. Fredericks reports capacity crowds at all three services Sunday in the Calvary Gospel Tabernacle and says that Evangelist John Carrara delivered three dynamic gospel messages on "Dwelling in the Words of Christ," "America at the Fork of the Road," and "Four Challenges."

The services marked the opening of the third annual Bible conference and evangelistic crusade. Evangelist Carrara will preach every night for two weeks, the services opening at 7:30 and closing at 9. The subject tonight will be "The Man Who Lost His Religion and Went to Heaven."

Rev. Fredericks says that a house to house campaign in evangelism as in the first century is on, with many participating.

REV. D. C. SCHNEBLY DELIVERS SERMON TO 335 GRADUATES

led by Principal Frank L. Orth and their class president, David Updegraff, began filing in slowly as Mrs. Reed played a Mendelssohn processional march from "Athalia."

Then the school chorus sang the "Call To Worship" and the audience, now standing, bowed for the invocation of Rev. Yeates.

Chorus Numbers Enjoyed
The chorus performed twice again singing "Jesus, Friend of Sinners" by Gael, and "It Shall Be Light" by Gael. The last number followed the baccalaureate message.

Piano accompanists for the chorus were the Misses Jean Louise Wright and Jean Chapman.

For the organ recessional march Mrs. Reed played "Grand Choeur" by Kulling. The postlude was "Hun Danked Alle Gott" by Kulling.

The huge senior group occupied the entire center section on the main floor last night.

At the Friday night graduation ceremony in the Cathedral auditorium, Dr. Ben G. Graham, superintendent of the Pittsburgh public schools, will speak.

Night's Speech Summary
Speaking on "The Perils of Security," Rev. Schnebly told the seniors and the large audience that joined in the service:

"Dr. Harold W. Dodds, president of Princeton university, in his baccalaureate address last June, spoke of the peril of security. He was moved to speak on this subject by the final statement in the statement of an undergraduate, who wrote, 'What youth seeks today is security.' To make this the ambition of youth seems at variance with those qualities which properly distinguish youth from age. For one in middle life to give serious consideration to the security of himself and his family is natural and commendable. But today the security of the times has resulted in an over-emphasis upon security as a goal of life rather than a by-product, or minor need, of our temporal existence. We need to reaffirm the more heroic doctrine that life is an adventure with a higher purpose than seeking insurance against risks."

"One of the perils of security is that it destroys the spirit of adventure. We all realize that the world of today is not the world of a few years ago. There is the terrible threat of a devastating world war. There are new and strange forms of economic insecurity. Living in a machine age we face continued unemployment and find increased difficulty in solving social and industrial problems. But we do not forget that life has always been insecure. Yet, today, insecurity has taken new and strange forms. In the modern day the struggle with the unpredictable forces of nature. Today, the insecurity of which millions are so conscious seems to be the consequence of human folly and perversity in that it springs from man's struggle with man rather than from the age-old struggle with nature. The modern day, therefore, is man's supreme confidence in himself, in scientific and intellectual attainments, and his growing feeling of insecurity, suspicion and distrust in respect to his relations with others."

World Keeps Grasping
"We are in grave danger of allowing security to become the primary place to a dominant place in the scale of human values. When that is done many follies will result in the name of humanity. The world, in its quest for happiness, is grasping at numerous and contradictory formulas for attaining security. But happiness, life security is a by-product of life and not its goal. In its quest for security, a primary place in human relations the world is in danger of throwing out the baby with the bath. An aphorism of Benjamin Franklin applies here: 'Life is a call to adventure. The old saying is ever true: 'Nothing ventured, nothing won.' Youth is called to pioneer, to try new paths, to make new discoveries, not to seek the safe and security of sure things, and risk nothing. Under emphasis upon security not only retards progress but also militates against the attainment of security itself. I am not forgetful of the fear of unemployment, the necessity of providing against abject need, the importance of making the future secure. But the instinct for security is so strong today among the mass of mankind that they will readily barter away the precious jewel of freedom rather than be condemned to a craven insecurity. Preoccupation with security breeds insecurity. The very threat of insecurity compels us to do our best. The man whose position or job is dependent upon the quality of service rendered will usually give a good account of himself. Shakespeare said: 'Out of this mellow danger, we pluck this flower, safety.'"

"It is not riches and ease and narrow selfishness that you want, I am sure. It is only the opportunity and strength to be of service and to do your part."

"I dream no dream of a nurse-maid state."

To spoon me out my food. The stool heart slings in the fray with fate. And his shock and the sweat are good."

War Fear Bred Frenzy
Another peril of security is that it enlarges the scope of fear. The World War left a heritage of fear among the nations which has bred a perfect frenzy of activity in governments to make sure of internal and external security. In some nations today we find that even the normal peace-time activities of government have been organized on a war basis. To gain security even domestic activities are dominated by the spirit and emotion of war. No argument is needed to show that when the spirit of militarism and the exaltation of dictatorship pervade the life of a people the future of that people is thereby made insecure.

"The nations of the world are adding to enlarged military armaments the burdens of neutrality acts, embargoes, quotas and preferences as vain instruments of security. The ultimate cost of these products of fear in terms of economic distress and human suffering cannot be foretold, but if allowed to continue may end in world-wide catastrophe. Let us remember that the ostrich with its head in the sand is seeking security."

The danger of being engrossed in thoughts and schemes of security is stagnation. The price of progress is change; absence of change is death. The totalitarian state makes the plausible promise of security without personal responsibility. The price people pay for a dictator is liberty and freedom of growth which are basic to life itself. The concentration of society upon security as a goal is suicidal, doomed to practical as well as spiritual failure. The individual who lives for security is throttling his powers and starving his soul. In life as in golf, the best rule for the successful player is to play straight for the pin, regardless of the hazards that may intervene. This thought is well illustrated in the following poem by Daisy Rinhardt:

"I'm tired of sailing my little boat
Far inside of the harbor bar.
I want to be out where the big ships float."

Out on the deep, where the great ones are!
And should my frail craft prove too slight
For storms that sweep those wide seas o'er,
Better go down in the stirring fight
Than drowse to death by the sheltered shore!"

Faith Is Diminished
"A third peril of security is that it diminishes faith. Putting faith in things and in man-made schemes lessens our faith in God. See how religion suffers at the hand of a dictator! The emphasis upon material things is destructive to spiritual interests. 'What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?' 'Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness.' The craving for security is the admission of a lack of faith or trust in our fellow-man. It is also a confession of a lack of faith or confidence in oneself. Successful living has always been marked by faith in God, faith in others and faith in oneself. 'Faith is the victory that overcomes the world.'"

"Men want the fullest, richest life possible. But through fear and selfishness, through lack of faith, many have not attained nor realized life, which is life indeed. The deep, ever-present undertone in man's cry today is 'Life! Richer! Fuller life!' Our Lord's reply to this cry is, 'Your deepest desire, your highest aspiration, may be found in me. I am the way and the truth and the life! Christianity is a call to courage, faith and conquest. Our true and only security is to live within the circle of God's will to abide under the shadow of the Almighty.'"

"You and your day and generation hold in your hands the country's future."

"You are your country's keeper. You are the future of the home. If the fingers of scorn be pointed at a country sunk in shame."

Yours is the hand that will guide her
And yours forever the praise
If she shall herself with glory
That shall lead through the length of days."

"Before you the way opens. You have a rendezvous not with uncertainty, but with certainty. You have a rendezvous with life. Put on the whole armor of God and go forth to live and serve in the abiding faith."

"He who from zone to zone
Guides through the borderless sky
The 'cerulean flight'—
In the long day that I must tread alone
Will lead me where angels tread."
—William Cullen Bryant

Pick 'Laurel Queen' Today; Miss Allen Participating

New Castle's attractive candidate for the title of "Laurel Queen of Pennsylvania"—Miss Jane McKinney Allen—this afternoon at Wellsboro, Pa., awaits, together with more than 50 other girls representing other cities of the state, the final verdict of prominent State Laurel Festival judges.

The Wellsboro laurel festival, launched Saturday, was sponsored to publicize the beauty of the mountain laurel section. Lions' clubs from many cities chose candidates for the queen's title—and tonight the queen is to be chosen and crowned.

The New Castle Lions sponsored Miss Allen's trip, and anxiously awaits news from the Northeastern Pennsylvania festival.

Over the week end Miss Allen and the other girls were honor guests at a round of social affairs provided for them by festival leaders.

Need necessity of enacting the Townsend national recovery plan into law, to bring back a lasting prosperity to our people.

He also stated that the Social Security Act was quite inadequate to provide the relief necessary from the distress existing, also that "the money collected was 'thrown into a bin' and dipped out with a scoop, and thrown in various directions to the best political advantage; not so with the money to be collected to pay the Townsend annuities, as it would be earmarked, to be used for no other purpose. The captain stated that when he asked Representative Doughton, chairman of the ways and means committee, why he would not let the Townsend general welfare act come out on the floor for discussion, he said: 'We have the Social Security Act, which will do much good.' Capt. Hand also said there were enough Democrat and Republican votes in committee to insure its coming out, were it not for the all-powerful chairman. He mentioned that Townsend membership was growing by leaps and bound."

On account of rain, Capt. Hand addressed the gathering in the evening in the Knights of Malta hall.

Indians Increase Lead In League

Defeat Senators As Yanks Drop To Lowly St. Louis Browns

By ANTHONY J. PUGLIESE

NEW YORK, June 6. Climaxing a winning drive high-lighted by superb pitching and timely hitting, the Chicago Cubs today scannied the pack from the east of the National League for the first time this year.

The Cubs sailed into the league leadership by a half game by taking the Phillies into camp, 7 to 1, while the Giants were losing to the Reds, 4 to 1.

Carlton In Shape. Carlton held the Phillies to eight hits and figured largely in two Chicago rallies by driving in two runs with a double and a single. Hugh Mulcahy suffered his seventh loss for the Phillies, while Carlton was credited with his sixth victory.

The Giants were held to three hits by youthful Johnny Vander Meer as the Reds won their sixth game in seven starts from the Giants this year. Clyde Clendenen, who was relieved by Cliff Melton in the eighth, was the losing pitcher. Singles by Joe Moore and Hank Leibert and a double by Mel Ott were the only Giant bluffs.

Despite Gus Suhr's homer with two on base, the Pira's lost to the Dodgers 10 to 5. Buddy Hassett featured the Brooklyn 15-hit assault with four hits.

Cardinals Win. In St. Louis the Cardinals won the opener of a twin bill from the Bees, 6 to 5, the winning margin being provided by Johnny Mize's homer with one on. Then the Bees took the nightcap 10 to 3 on Milt Shoffner's nine-hit pitching.

In the American League the Cleveland Indians, aided by Hal Trosky's two homers and one by Lyn Lary, increased their league lead over the Yankees to four games by taking a 5 to 4 10-inning decision from the Senators.

Yankees Lose. The Yanks dropped a 6 to 5 tilt to the St. Louis Browns in a double header opener marred by rain. The nightcap was postponed on account of darkness. Lefty Gomez suffered his sixth defeat as the Browns rallied with four runs in the fifth.

Vernon Kennedy continued his sensational pitching, winning his ninth straight game as the Tigers beat the Boston Red Sox, 10 to 4. Kennedy held the Sox to nine hits, while the Tigers got 14 off Wilson, Dickman and Marcum.

The Chicago White Sox broke a 10-game losing streak by taking a twin bill opener from the Athletics, 8 to 2, and then fell back into their losing ways by dropping the nightcap, 7 to 6.

West Pittsburgh Will Play Sox

The West Pittsburgh and New Castle Red Sox game will be played at the Washington high field instead of the West Pittsburgh field, it was announced by Manager Danny DeGennova of the West Pittsburghers. The game will start at 6 o'clock. The pitching for the visitors will be done by Powell or Dumbek. For the Sox the hurling will be done by Morris or Strausbaugh.

Trainers of War Admiral were still undecided whether to start the famous horse in the Queens County Handicap at Aqueduct.

ACES WIN GAME

Chestnut Street Aces defeated the Camp Station 13 to 8 in a mushball game at Dean park Saturday.

Maxwell was the winning pitcher and Campbell was the losing hurler. The hitting of Hawkey, D. Maxwell and Alexander, Campbell and Radish featured the game. Among the hits were home runs by Hawkey, Maxwell and Clark. To arrange mushball games call 2166-R and ask for Hawkey.

Variety Girls Win Third Game

Defeat Grazani Girls 39 To 4

With Pep Pisula Pitching

The Factor Variety Girls Mush-ball team won its third straight game Sunday afternoon at the Rolar Field defeating the Grazani girls 39 to 4.

Pep Pisula was in rare form for the Factors and was touched for a few scattered hits. Rose DeCarlo started for the Grazanis. The Factor Variety's has shown vast improvements lately and will be a hard team to beat in the future. They have scored a total of 120 runs in the first three games to the opponent's 25 runs.

Manager Joe A. Factor will take his team to Youngstown tonight to see the opening game between the

Scher Tailors and the Hollywood Shop Girls. The Hubbert Lassies of Hubbert or the Scher Tailors last year League Champion of Youngstown will be brought here to open the regular season for the Factor

Variety's. The New Castle girls will be outfitted in bright red uniforms within the next few days. Helen Gram, Anna Polnich, Kate Reiter and Anna Scholz of the old Buckeye team has signed up with the Factor Variety's and will add strength to the team.

SYLVAN HEIGHTS RESULTS

Cosmo "Cope" Scilla, H. Anderson and Walt Vogan were winners of the kickers' handicap event at Sylvan Heights course Sunday, which was participated in by a large field of golfers. Their net score of 79 proved to be the winning number. Willie Grommes, with a par round of 72, was medalist for the day.

Paul Reider, ex-Pitt football star, scored a beautiful eagle 3 on the long 475-yard No. 2 hole at Sylvan

Heights. His second wood shot was just six inches from the pin. Reider

was playing with Art Sillman, Clark

McClelland and Guy Lackey, former college athletes.

Pete Dunniak, young 17-year-old star, toured the sporty Sylvan

Heights layout in 78, turning in a card of 39 going out and coming in.

Harold Heinlein, 18-year-old Coraopolis golfer, turned in a card of 77 in his first round of the course, and followed it up with rounds of 75 and 72 over the week-end. Heinlein told Manager Walter S. Hart of the Sylvan Heights course that the local course is probably the best municipal course in this section of the country. He was loud in his praise of the wonderful condition

he found the course in. In his last round, Heinlein was one over par going out and one under par coming in.

Jack Machin shot a brilliant 34

on the back nine over the week-end,

two under par.

Art Prioletti sank an unusual shot,

a blind mashie-niblick on No. 10 hole, Sunday. Prioletti was in behind No. 17 tee with his second shot and could not see the green. He popped the iron shot over the tee and when he ran up to see when it was going, got a thrill when he saw the ball trickle into the cup for a birdie 3.

First Of Union Services Is Held

The Rev. F. H. Daubenspeck Delivers Fine Address On "Service"

ELLWOOD CITY, June 6.—The first in a series of summer Union services was held last evening in the auditorium of the First Presbyterian church. A well-filled church enjoyed a fine address by Rev. F. H. Daubenspeck, of the Trinity Lutheran church. Choosing as his subject "Service," Rev. Daubenspeck delivered a comprehensive and eloquent plea for a better understanding of the word service in this modern age. The program was under the direction of the members of the First Baptist church. A feature of the service was musical selections by the Baptist quartette composed of the Messrs. Paul Conner, Edward Eichlaub, Russell Shaffer and Edward

Another Union service will take place next Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the Immanuel Reformed church at which time Rev. Bernie Osterhouse, of the First Baptist church, will deliver the address, and members of the Reformed church will have charge of the musical program.

Many local friends motored to Beaver Falls last evening to enjoy the baccalaureate address by Dr. Pearce. The Rev. A. M. Stevenson, of this city, read the scripture lesson for the evening.

Prominent on the musical program were the Genevieve, a group of choral singers who presented a musical rendition of the Psalms, unaccompanied by any music, which furnished a fitting climax to the impressive program.

ELLWOOD CITY, June 6.—On Tuesday evening, June 6, at 8 o'clock, members of the Pleasant Hill Grange will present their annual play. This year's presentation, "Grand Old Darling," is a three-act comedy and is being directed by the grange lecturer, Mrs. Velma Alken. In the past years, these plays have been very well received and from advance reports, this year's selection will maintain their fine record. The complete cast follows:

Grandma Slater, a spunky old lady—Miss Ada Wagner.

Sarah Pring, her daughter—Mrs. Essie Friday.

Susan, Sarah's step-daughter—Miss Ruby Alken.

J. Hubbard Pring, Sarah's husband—Clair Friday.

Jed Hays, the sheriff—Earl Friday.

Shack Fowler, his crony—Otto Wagner.

Dudley Brandell, a young banker—George Brown.

Clay Osborne, Sarah's nephew—Eugene Fox.

Victory Lancaster, Dudley's secretary—Miss Lillian Jones.

Soaky, the maid—Miss Helen McElwain.

ELLWOOD CITY, June 6.—The program of events in the First Presbyterian church starts this evening with a meeting of the officers and teachers at seven o'clock. Also a meeting of the Girl Scout troop.

Thursday evening at seven o'clock the Boy Scout troop meets in the church.

First Of Union Services Is Held

The Rev. F. H. Daubenspeck Delivers Fine Address On "Service"

ELLWOOD CITY, June 6.—The first in a series of summer Union services was held last evening in the auditorium of the First Presbyterian church. A well-filled church enjoyed a fine address by Rev. F. H. Daubenspeck, of the Trinity Lutheran church. Choosing as his subject "Service," Rev. Daubenspeck delivered a comprehensive and eloquent plea for a better understanding of the word service in this modern age. The program was under the direction of the members of the First Baptist church. A feature of the service was musical selections by the Baptist quartette composed of the Messrs. Paul Conner, Edward Eichlaub, Russell Shaffer and Edward

Another Union service will take place next Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the Immanuel Reformed church at which time Rev. Bernie Osterhouse, of the First Baptist church, will deliver the address, and members of the Reformed church will have charge of the musical program.

Many local friends motored to Beaver Falls last evening to enjoy the baccalaureate address by Dr. Pearce. The Rev. A. M. Stevenson, of this city, read the scripture lesson for the evening.

Prominent on the musical program were the Genevieve, a group of choral singers who presented a musical rendition of the Psalms, unaccompanied by any music, which furnished a fitting climax to the impressive program.

ELLWOOD CITY, June 6.—On Tuesday evening, June 6, at 8 o'clock, members of the Pleasant Hill Grange will present their annual play. This year's presentation, "Grand Old Darling," is a three-act comedy and is being directed by the grange lecturer, Mrs. Velma Alken. In the past years, these plays have been very well received and from advance reports, this year's selection will maintain their fine record. The complete cast follows:

Grandma Slater, a spunky old lady—Miss Ada Wagner.

Sarah Pring, her daughter—Mrs. Essie Friday.

Susan, Sarah's step-daughter—Miss Ruby Alken.

J. Hubbard Pring, Sarah's husband—Clair Friday.

Jed Hays, the sheriff—Earl Friday.

Shack Fowler, his crony—Otto Wagner.

Dudley Brandell, a young banker—George Brown.

Clay Osborne, Sarah's nephew—Eugene Fox.

Victory Lancaster, Dudley's secretary—Miss Lillian Jones.

Soaky, the maid—Miss Helen McElwain.

Saturday's Fair-Sized Rally
Is Continued in Market
At Opening Today

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, June 6.—A continuation of Saturday's fair-sized rally in the stock market today brought gains running to more than a point throughout pivotal groups. Washington developments again were prime influences in the improved market sentiment, particularly indications that congress might adjourn by the end of the current week.

Trading was moderately active in the first hour, when the list enjoyed a sustained upswing under the lead of steel shares. A (the advance was slowed later, volume dried up. Bethlehem and U. S. Steel each were up 1 1/2 points before meeting with profit-taking. Crucible and Youngstown gained slightly less.

Late gains were shown in the chemical division. DuPont led with an extreme advance of three points. Allied climbed two, while Air Reduction and Union Carbide were up more than a point.

Westinghouse Electric moved up more than two points along with Coca Cola and International Harvester, while Eastman Kodak gained three at one time.

Advances of a point or so were shown by a long list of issues, including General Electric, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck and Douglas Aircraft.

DEDICATE CHAPEL
AND NEW LIBRARY

Handsome Library Named
In Memory Of Heroic
Death Of Ralph
McGill

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., June 6.—President Charles Wallace, when he was president of Westminster college held as his concept of learning that culture begins by accepting the Christian ideal which aims at the perfection of life. Dr. Sullivan Foster, Indiana, said in his address on Saturday at the dedication of the Charles Wallace Memorial chapel in honor of the seventh president of the college, Dr. W. Charles Wallace.

Gothic Architecture
Gothic architecture, which is the predominant type of construction on the campus and especially in the chapel grew in the Middle Ages, out of belief that life on earth is valuable in itself in contrast for former theories that life was to be lived only in preparation for a future life. Dr. Foster explained.

The highest achievement of the Middle Ages was Gothic Architecture," Dr. Foster said. "The character of Dr. Wallace is symbolized by the architecture that went into this chapel with his brilliancy of intellect and loftiness of ideals. Under a brusk exterior, Dr. Wallace had a heart of understanding and tenderness.

"Dr. Wallace was a noble man, a great educator, a brilliant preacher and a loyal friend," concluded Dr. Foster. "He has rendered this institution invaluable service. Indeed, the college honors itself in dedicating this chapel in his memory."

Dedicate Library

Following the chapel dedication, Dr. J. Holly Hanford, Western Reserve university, spoke at the dedication of the new McGill Memorial library. Assisting in the library dedication were Dr. McElwee Ross, McKeesport board president, who unveiled the memorial tablet, dedicating the library to Rev. Ralph Gibson McGill, who died heroically in the Mediterranean sea in 1924. Present at the unveiling was John S. Mark, chief donor to the library fund and a boyhood friend of Rev. McGill's. Mr. William M. Duff, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the building committee of the Westminster Board of Trustees received the keys to the McGill Library from the architect, Prack and Prack, of Pittsburgh. In a dedicatory prayer by Dr. James M. Ferguson, Pittsburgh, the main reading room was named the "Robert Gracey Ferguson reading room." In honor of Westminster's fifth president, Dr. R. G. Ferguson.

Crown May Queen

Because of rain, the band concert under the direction of Prof. Donald O. Cameron, with Joseph Mulvey, Greenville, acting as guest-conductor was moved to the gymnasium at 7 o'clock in spite of a light drizzle of rain. Miss Joyce Beatty, Westview, and her May Queen court received the crown from the 1937 queen Miss Louise Hess, Pittsburgh.

Sunday's program included the Christian associations service by Rev. Parker E. Rose, Buffalo, N. Y., who receives an honorary degree today; a Vesper concert at 4 o'clock featuring the Westminster Singers, the Woman's Ensemble, and Clayton Taylor, Warren, sophomore, at the organ. At 8 o'clock, President R. F. Galbreath preached the baccalaureate sermon in the college chapel. Students participating in the baccalaureate services were Monas Harlan, soloist; W. Calvin Jolly, in charge of the student choir; and Clayton Taylor, organist.

Today's program, prefaced by a Board of Trustees meeting in the morning will be climaxed by the commencement address of Dr. Arthur Bestor, Chautauque president; the granting of 105 degrees to seniors and the honoring of five alumni with honorary titles.

Expect 500 Here For Examinations

State Tests Planned For June 11, 18; Dr. Green In Charge

Approximately 500 candidates for positions with the Pennsylvania Department of Public Assistance will come to New Castle a week from today—Saturday, June 11—to take special examinations for these posts in Senior high school rooms, Dr. C. C. Green, head of the city's schools and administrator for the examinations here, announced today.

The 500 will come from seven or more central Western Pennsylvania counties.

On Saturday, June 18, another large group will take other examinations, Dr. Green said.

Appointment of Dr. Green as administrator for the tests was announced in Harrisburg by Hugh F. Dolan, Jr., secretary of the public assistance department's employment board.

Castlewood

FAREWELL PARTY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Blew was the scene of a happy gathering on Friday evening when about 30 friends gathered for a wicker roast. The affair was a farewell party for William Blew and Albert Ehrenberg, who will leave in a few days to join the U. S. army.

The time was spent with music and playing games around a large bonfire until a late hour when all joined in roasting wieners.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Loy and family of New Castle.

SCHOOL CLOSING

The Castlewood school closed on Friday, June 3. The seventh and eighth grades, with their teacher, J. B. Houk, and some of the parents moved to Stoughton's Beach where they spent the day. The lower grades enjoyed a picnic at the school on Thursday.

The following pupils were neither absent nor tardy during the term: Grades 3 and 4—Jack Workman, Charlotte Young, Winifred Currie and Richard Perdue.

Grades 5 and 6—Billy Workman, Howard Moore, Ruth Evelyn St. John, John Williams, Bud McHattie and Billy White.

Grades 7 and 8—Robert Seaford, Edgar Perdue, Elbert Cowan, Bernice Moore, Mary Collins, Dorothy Brown and Reid White.

CASTLEWOOD NOTES

Carl McHattie of Ellwood City spent a few days recently with Ralph Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kennedy of Cleveland, O., visited recently with relatives in Castlewood.

Miss Grace Baker of South New Castle boro is spending several days with Miss Marian White.

Mrs. Loy McHattie and children from Ellwood City spent one day recently with her sister, Mrs. Clark Reno and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Knight of Highland Heights spent all day Friday with their daughter, Mrs. Arthur Morrow and family.

Sneak Thieves Rifle Automobiles

Police today received reports of three automobiles being rifled over the week-end. Four pocketbooks were stolen. The reports say the cars were robbed in Poplar street, Taylor street and East Washington street.

Mrs. Nick Kiraly, New Wilmington, R. D. 2, reported someone stole her pocketbook containing 50 cents, pictures and a bank book from her truck parked in Poplar street Saturday.

Mrs. Gladys Smith, 413 Fairmont avenue, reported someone stole her pocketbook containing papers and cards from her auto which was parked Saturday in Taylor street.

William Wallover, 418 1/2 East Washington street, told police his wallet with $17.00 was stolen from his car which was parked Sunday morning in East Washington street near the Spur service station. The pocketbook of Mrs. J. P. Strober, of Iowa, was also stolen from the car.

AROUND CITY HALL

West side of North Mill street between North and Falls streets was closed to traffic today owing to improvements by the New Castle Street Electric railway company. The improvements on the east side of the thoroughfare were made last week.

Traffic Commissioner Thomas Jones today said he would suggest to the Funeral Directors association here should adopt some regulations whereby funeral processions could be kept as much as possible off East Washington St. in the heavy traffic district. He said that when traffic flows east and west through East Washington street in the heavy traffic zones it ties up traffic.

AUTO STOLEN

Red coupe, 1928 model, color green, owned by Mrs. K. E. Smith, R. D. 1, was reported stolen from the public library lot. Police are searching for the car.

CHASE CADDIES

Caddies who hitch-hike from North Jefferson street and Wilmington avenue were chased early Sunday morning by police officers.
